SPIRAL

In this piece, I arrange many red wooden circles on a wall creating a spiral. The circles are either blank or have a word written on them. The words on the circles all have negative meanings. Example: unhappiness, bad, etc. alternating one blank circle with one marked circle, I create the spiral. The spiral ends with the word "dead" alluding that by tracing the negative words that form the spiral we are being lead down the "downward spiral" to death.

TRACING DOTS - Mural

In this piece, the line is just the trace of a moving point. Through this depiction, my purpose is to emphasize the importance of synergy as a way of life. The interaction of elements that when combined produce a total effect that is greater than the sum of the individual elements. Synergy generates team efforts, symbiosis, alliance, unity and harmony. When synergy is in use, it contributes to dynamics, momentum, and impact. I used ordinary materials and gave them properties that exceeded their intrinsic qualities. I used each element as a surviving mark or evidence of its former existence.
